The Panshanger Raphael would have been-we repeat-a most delightful addition to the Umbrian group, and its acquisition would have given the national collection a lovelier Madonna by the Urbinate than at present it can boast.' This Raphael had been in the posses sion of the Cowper family since 1780, when the third Earl, who was British Minister at Florence, acquired it. Negotiations for its purchase by Duveen Brothers were not completed until the National Gallery authorities and their friends had had opportunity to make every possible effort to raise the money asked for it, and it is interesting to recall that the previous failure on the part of the nation to respond occurr connection with Rembrandt's "Mill," which is now in Philadelphia. An intense silence surrounded the whole matter while the "National Arts Collection was attempting the impossible, and it is said that the Duveens ex-tended the period originally named for the conclusion of their purchase in order to give England a liberal chance. The experts on Raphael's work con sider this Madonna an unsullied example of the master's own brush. It was painted when Raphael was only 22 years old, and shows an already extraordinary technical mastery. According to Sir Claude Phillips, it has "all the exquisiteness of the moment of transition between the Umbrian and the Florentine manners." The Virgin is a characteristic type, young, mild, and beautiful. She wears a red tunic, cut square across the breast, and a blue mantle fifted with green. She holds the child on her right hand, his arms are about her neck. In the background is a river winding toward blue hills, on the right are the marble porch and campanile of the church that Cronaca had built on the road to S. Appellate Division Upholds Conviction of Thirteen Dealers with Jail Sentences.

CASE ON RECORD

Methods,' Says Court-Pending Indictments to be Taken Up Soon.

The efficacy of a statute fifty years old to fix individual guilt for monopolies in restraint of trade was upheld yesterday, when thirteen poultry dealers, convicted after a three months' trial before General Sessions Judge Rosalsky, lost their appeals from conviction and sentences to serve three months in the penitentiary and pay fines of $500 each. The case was hailed as the first in which fail sentences had been upheld by an appellate court in an anti-trust prosecu-

The thirteen defendants fought the case bitterly. Before Judge Rosalsky they were represented by ex-District Attorney William Travers Jerome. In the Appellate Division Chairman Edward E. McCall of the Public Service Commis sion, and a former Supreme Court Justice, appeared for them. The conviction which was upheld was under a State

The monopoly in live poultry was characterized by Justice McLaughlin, writing the unanimous decision of the Appellate Division, "as complete as their ingenuity could devise and as effective as combined action could make it." Elsewhere in the opinion the court, disthe plea that there was no criminal intent, pronounced the poultry combination an organization "created for an illegal purpose and maintained criminal methods, the court found that the combination outbid independent wholesalers to corner the incoming supply of live poultry, and established rival stores close to the establishments of independent retailers to drive them out of business by selling below cost.

The books of the combination showe that this ruinous warfare had been effective in about three weeks. These rously noted in the books kept by the Treasurer of two associa tions forming the pool by these marginal statements:

"War will be declared very soon."

The combination for which convictions were sustained yesterday was formed in June, 1906, and was operated until the time of the indictment. It received and distributed substantially all the live poultry received in the New York market. At one time the pool was known as the "General Pooling Mechanism," and at another as the "Four Borough Pool."

and at another as the "Four Borough Pool."

The jobbers in the poultry trust combination pooled each week the profits they had earned during that week. This pool was placed in the hands of one of the members. The commission men who received the poultry also pooled their commissions in the hands of one of their members designated to act as treasurer. It was shown that in secret meetings held in an office in West Washington Market, the centre of the live poultry trade in New York City, the price of poultry at which the commission men diverted the poultry to jobbers was fixed on Mondays, Tuesdays, and Wednesdays of each week. There was a Receivers' Association, composed of the commission men. At their, meetings each member filled in upon a card the number of cars of live poultry involced to him during the week, whether ordinary or coop cars. A total was then made by the secretary of the so-called Receivers' Association. The amount of poultry left over from the preceding week's supply was estimated also and placed in the hands of the secretary. With this information in hand the members of the combination proceeded to fix the prices of poultry.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—A situation as occurred at Port-au-Prince which was printed to-day showing the incongruity of the grades of rank in the American Navy when an American naval officer is called on to act in concert with officers of a foreign navy. A few weeks ago Rear Admiral Fletcher at Tampico was confronted with the prospect of being required to take second place to Rear Admiral Craddock of the British Navy, who ranked him. Unpleasantness was avoid ed by the good sense of the British Adniral, who politely called on the Amerian Admiral and deferred to him throughout the attack on Tampico. At Port au-Prince Capt. HUSBAND'S AUTO LIABILITY. Not Responsible if His Wife, in Car, Runs Down Persons.

A husband who supplies his wife with motor car, and lets her run it, cannot be held responsible in damages for inpersons on the public highway. Giving this as the law, the Appellate Division set aside yesterday a verdict in favor of Miss Helen Tanzer against Henry P. Read. The Appellate Division said that Mr. Osborn said that when the fact that he and the Governor were discussing a possible reorganization of the committee became public he wrote to Georga M. Palmer, the present Chalr-

My business is well established, and I maintain a number of salesmen on the road for this purpose. Only a small number of people can be interested in any proposition. It would, therefore, be necessary to circularize a seemingly disproportionate number so as to insure sufficient replies to enable me to lay out routes for my salesmen, who will communicate with you frequently direct from the road."

The amount which Adams asked, Inspector Mayhew said yesterday, depended on the size of the capital of the company. If it were about to issue only a comparatively small amount of shares he used to advise the distribution of only 5,000 circulars. On the other hand when the capital desired was large he would suggest that 20,000 elaborately printed circulars would not be too much. For one issue the Inspector said he charged as high as $1,000, and he had obtained a number of advance fees from companies in the West.

AIRMEN SEE HOPE OF OCEAN FLIGHT

British Experts Say Rodman Wanamaker's Plan Is Feasible.

PRAISE FOR LIEUT. PORTE

Thompson Says a 30-Mile Wind May Be Counted On-German Aeronaut is Skeptical.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times. LONDON, Feb. 6.-Several experts have expressed views favorable to the proposed transatlantic flight.

Thomas Sopwith, the well-known airman and designer of the Sopwith waterplane, says that it is a tremendous undertaking, but, with the rapid advance of science in constructing waterplanes, success is now well within the regions of possibility.

Gustav Hamel says: "Lieut. Porte is a magnificent pilot and an experienced navigator, which is all-impor tant in such a flight."

James Valentine says: " Porte is one of the best men for the undertaking. Given fair weather, a good following wind for the best part of the journey, a very fast machine, and good luck, it By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Teleshould not be an impossible reat."

B. C. Hucks says: "When the cross-Atlantic flight was first proposed I thought the day of its accomplishment very remote. I have altered this opintance flights of pilots in the last six months have proved the task perfectly feasible."

Lieut. Porte is on the flying staff of White & Thompson, Limited, of the aeronautic works at Bognor. Norman A. Thompson, the company's managing Director, explains that meteorological conditions make it necessary to start the flight from the American side. Therefore the machine will be built on the spot. "We have had the best advice on the weather conditions of the Atlantic that can be obtained, he said. "In August and September you can rely at a certain height upon a steady wind blowing toward Ireland By Marconi Transatiantic Wireless Teleat the rate of thirty or thirty-rive miles an hour. propriated $10,000.

Secretary Garrison of the War Department, charged with the execution of the act of Congress, has designated Lieut. Col. E. E. Winslow, Corps of Engineers of the Army, at Norfolk, Va., to look after all the preliminary work.

The Secretary already has invited sculptors of established reputation to submit designs for the monument Bubmit designs for the monument, which must be submitted to Cof. Winslow by Feb. 15. It is proposed that the monument in its general design shall consist of a monolithic shaft resting on a stone pedestal either alone or accompanied by a life-sized bust in bronze.

RULING MAY FREE CONVICTS.

Court's Interpretation of Law Disturbs Kentucky Authorities. FRANKFORT, Ky., Feb. 6.-Several hundred convicts in the State prisons nay obtain their immediate release under a ruling to-day by the State Court of Appeals.

The decision is based on the court's Interpretation of the indeterminate sentence law, and resulted from an appeal in the case of John Demoss, sentenced to a minimum of two years from Covington.

Ington.

Demoss served two years, and applied to the Prison Commission for parole. His plea was refused, and he sued, the case finally reaching the Court of Appeals. The court decided that under the law he was entitled to a parole when he had served his minimum sentence without the necessity of going before the Prison Commission, and if a parole were refused, the petitioner had the right to obtain a mandamus for his release.

was disclosed in the Orphans' Court to-day.

His will, executed Jan. 26, two days before his death and filed for probate in the Orphans' Court yesterday, bequeaths all his property to Mrs. Katharine Palmer, whom he calls his wife and whom he named as executrix without bond. To-day notice of a caveat was filed by Attorney Philip M. Golden, representing Mrs. May Palmer, who is alleged to have been the only legal wife of Mr. Palmer. Attorney Golden said that his client, who lives in Philadelphia, was Palmer's wife, but that there was another woman in this city who claimed that relationship.

Palmer married first in London in 1871, said Attorney Golden, and he and his wife came to this country several years ago. Here he married again. Both women, Mr. Golden declared, knew of the alleged claim of the other. MRS. HACKLEY'S WILL Estate Worth More Than $1,000, 000-Many Bequests to Charities.

Special to The New York Times.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Feb. 6.—The will of Mrs. Frances A. Hackley of Hackley School, Tarrytown, with its seven codicils, was filed with Surrogate William A. Sawyer here to-day for safe keeping until a petition is made for its probate. Mrs. Hackley died at her school for boys on Sept. 4, and she leaves an estate of more than $1,000,000. Her chief source of income was from mines, quarries, and other properties in Pennsylvania. The Hackley School was conducted partly from the owner's primany times during 1909, but in the last odicil Mrs. Hackley directed that the esidue of the estate should go to the school that bears her name, while there are about $200,000 in bequests to relatives and institutions. Among other yesterday of delegates to the thirty-third things Mrs. Hackley did in her codicils things Mrs. Hackley did in her cedicis was to bequeath Mrs. Eva R. I. Brown of Dobb's Ferry $100,000 in a codicil of Feb. 12, 1909, and in March, 1909, this bequest was revoked. The will gives the following amounts to institutions, after a number of relatives are remembered by amounts ranging from $500 annually to $100,000 outright:

Continuing, the report reads:

A surprising feature of 1913 was the extraordinary number of new churches. It came near bearing the greatest advance of any year. It is due, it is said, to the enterprise of many hodies in going after and organizing scattered communicants, and also to the realization of the economic fact that small churches, save in particular cases in centres of large cities, are to be preferred to large, in that relatively they reach and interest larger numbers of people at less cost for maintenance. In Visna, and Parls Roman Catholic leaders are recognizing this fact, and within the last year have much increased the number of places of worship. In New York a similar economic law is being followed by Roman Catholics and Episcopalians.

DIAGONAL ROUTE FOR SUBWAY LINK

Connection for Old and New East Side Lines Decided On by Service Board.

GRAND UNION HOTEL TO GO

Work on Plans to Start at Once-City May Make Bargain with Central for Easement.

Another of the important steps in laying out the actual routes to be followed in the new dual subway system was taken yesterday by the Public Service Commission when it decided that the connection between the old Park Avenue Subway and the new Lexington Avenue subway should be by what has Section 4 of Seventh Ave. Line to be been called the diagonal route, leaving the old line at Forty-first Street and joining the new line at Forty-third Street. All the Commissioners, except Commissioner Maltbie, voted for this connection, and it has the support of Aifred Craven, the commission's Chief

Moreover, it has met the views of the at Christopher Street. Moreover, it has met the views of the Forty-second Street Association, which is composed of business men along that thoroughfare and has been advocating before the commission both the adoption of the diagonal connection and the placing of an express station in Times Square. Successful in these two requests, it has, so far at any rate, not been able to get the commission to modify the present Interborough crosstown tracks in accordance with the views of George A. Haywood and the New York Central.

The commission instructed Mr. Craven to go ahead immediately with the preparation of plans for the diagonal route, as it is very important that this connecting link on the east side of the city should be ready for operation at the same time as the connection on the west side between the new Seventh Avenue line and the old Broadway line. If this is accomplished, there will be no difficulties from the operating point of view in changing from the present Subway to the new "H" system.

The Grand Union Hotel will probably be torn down in connection with this diagonal plan. One of the causes of the long delay in deciding on the Grand Central connection was the difficulty of reaching terms with its owners which were satisfactory to the city. They asked $3,500,000 for their property and both these figures seemed to the commission to be too high. They will now conneem such property south of Forty-third Street as they need, and it is likely that, as it was found necessary.

When this section is let the entire Seventh Avenue line will be under contract from West Broadway and Vesey Street to the Batter for the south to Seventh Avenue after from the south and the short street in the bouth and the confidence from Vesey Street to the Battery on the south and the con in changing from the present Subway to the new "I" system.

The Grand Union Hotel will probably be torn down in connection with this diagonal plan. One of the causes of the long delay in deciding on the Grand Central connection was the difficulty of reaching terms with its owners which were satisfactory to the city. They asked $5,500,000 for their property and $1,875,000 for the easement under it, and both these figures seemed to the commission to be too high. They will now condemn such property south of Fortysecond Street as they need, and it is likely that, as it was found necessary to take down the old Astor House at the corner of Broadway and Vesey Street when the B. R. T. subway reached it, the Grand Union will have to be wrecked.

As regards the property at the north-

As regards the property at the north-east corner of Forty-second Street and Lexington Avenue, which belongs to the New York Central and under which the connection will also have to be built, the commission will advocate the ac-quisition of an easement either by pur-chase or by condemnation, as circum-stances render more advisable. It is not unlikely however that the presschase or by condemnation, as circumstances render more advisable. It is not unlikely, however, that the necessary rights will pass to the city as part of a comprehensive bargain with the railroad company, involving as well the making of connections between the rapid transit and trunk line Grand Central Stations, and possibly the construction of this particular piece of subway. With the new and old sections of the cast side line connections on this diagonal at Forty-second Street, the express station to be established here will be on the diagonal, and will thus have as short and easy an access to the New York Central's station as the present Subway station possesses. To provide the crossnown shuttle service under Forty-second Street, the present line, which now turns south at Park Avenue close by the Hotel Belmont, will be continued on to run to a stub end at the new diagonal platforms, so that transferring to and from Lexington Avenue trains will be simple. Moreover, the new Steinway Tunnel line and the Hudson tubes, when completed, will be worked into this terminus, the Steinway Tunnel being on the third and the Hudson tubes on the second level. In voting against the diagonal connection and in favor of the alternative route, which left Lexington Avenue at Fortieth Street and cut into the existing Subway at about Thirty-seventh, Commissioner Maltbie explained that he did so because it would cost $1,500,000 less than the diagonal route, and because of the reasons he had set forth at the time of the adoption of the dual system agreements in favor of the completion of the Lexington Avenue line.

Commissioner Eustis, however, said that he considered that the diagonal connection had advantages which made it worth the difference in the cost. He laid stress especially on the approval it had received from Mr. Craven and the interborough. Chairman McCall and Commissioners Cram and Williams concurred with Mr. Eustis.

As the action of the commission has been taken after three or four conferences with the Board of Estimate, with

As the action of the commission has been taken after three or four conferences with the Board of Estimate, with whom as the money-voting authority it was thought well to consult, the question is now settled definitely. The Fourth Avenue Association and the Lexington Avenue Association have been asking for the continuance of the Lexington Avenue line as far south as Thirty-fourth Street and a connection with Park Avenue by way of the old car barn property, but it is very unlikely that they can get any reconsideration of the commission's determination.

SUBWAY BIDS ASKED.

Let-Route Modifications. Bids for the construction of Section of the new Interborough Seventh Ave-nue subway will be received by the commission up to March 2. The section runs under Seventh Avenue, and its extension from Commerce to Sixteenth Engineer, and the Interborough Rapid Street, and includes an express station Transit Company, which will operate at Fourteenth Street and a local station

When this section is let the entire Forty-second Street Association, which Seventh Avenue line will be under con-the westerly stairs free for the ascent of passengers.

As the entire station is soon to be reconstructed in connection with the 'third tracking of the line, these were the only changes which were considered by the commission to be advisable at this 'ime. Commissioner Eustis has also looked into the service on the Union Railway in the Bronx. He has found cut of eight roads inspected three needed additional service, the Southern Boulevard, the Westchester Avenue, and the White Plains Avenue lines, while the other five had only a small overload for a short period in the rush hours. At the suggestion of the Commissioner the service on the three lines mentioned is to be increased.

NEW LEASE OF LIFE FOR THE FROCK COAT

Can Continue to Adorn Statesmen Desirous of Being Stately, Fashion Tailors Decree.

In taking this action they ebuked the too progressive element of heir associates which had announced that the convention would declare the rock coat to be a thing of the past. Washington tailors who make clothes for statesmen were responsible in large measure for what appears to be a right about face on the part of the convencoat out of business. "I got in a good lot of trouble by where I come from, we have been 'cutfiguratively, for almost twenty years. and have been furnishing the cutaway to customers in place of the frock. These Washington tailors. however, and a number of others from different parts of the country, who make frock coats for men in public life, protested against eliminating the frock coat as a fashionable garment, so the Fashion devils of Committee's report is phrased a little differently."

Mr. Whitlin is a member of the Fashion Committee of the International Spectator the Only One Hurt When Custom Cutters. The report of the committee which the convention adopted to-day contained this paragraph:

We wish to emphasize that the double-breasted frock coat is by no means relegated to the background. While the three-button cutaway just at this time is the most popu-lar garment, the frock coat is worn by the highest officials of our nation, and this fact itself must maintain the dignity of this gar-ment.

According to the decrees of the cus-tom cutters as set forth in their report of the Fashion Committee, loose fitting overcoats are no longer stylish, sack coats are to be tighter and longer, the cutaway or morning coat should be overcoats are no longer stylish, sack coats are to be tighter and longer, the cutaway or morning coat should be braided and have a high waist line, and on account of the prevailing "dancing and whirling"—the expression is the Fashion Committee's very own—the dinner coat will be more popular than ever before. And men of lounging ways should take notice that the side pockets "should be eliminated entirely "from the trousers of evening dress.

The smartest garment for the coming Spring will be a three-button, double-breasted frock over-garment with a short waist, cut high and straight around the bottom and rather a short skirt, made with three buttons, two to close. Pockets in the skirt on a crescent line, with or without flaps. Buttons hard and bright.

Waistcoats will be worn medium height and length, showing a very tight line at the waist and having only width enough at the shoulders to maintain their position.

Trousers should be made very straight and not too narrow and having the appearance of being a triffe short. This

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—The time-honored frock coat, known in some sections as a Prince Albert, is not to be turned over to the old clothes man. The International Custom Cutters delivered an edict to that effect to-day at the closing session of their annual convention. In taking this action they

His first lecture will be given in Brooklyn on Monday night. He spoke of Maeterlinck's being placed what I forecast about the frock coat on the Index of the Catholic Church, and being abolished. Up in Philadelphia, said that a friend had told him that ting them out,' not literally, but ing to get on the list because they hundreds of authors in Rome were trythought it would sell their books. Mr. Yeats said that the public to-day wanted to see and hear realistic plays dealing with the present, and not dramas of the old style. He did not wish to enter into a religious discussion, but he saw no heresy in "Pelleas and Melisande" or "The Blue Bird."
"When new ideas come into heing." "When new ideas come into being," he said, "the gods of the old become the devils of the new."

FIGHT ONLOOKER SHOT.

Gunmen Meet,

Two men, standing on opposite cor ners at Oak and Catharine Streets last night, fought with pistols. The shots went wide of their marks, but before those firing them took to their heels one bullet found its way to the right leg of Michael Brocco of 213 Bleecker Street, who had run out of a saloon to watch the fight.

The police arrived in time to hear from another man that one of the gunmen had jumped on a Madison Street horse car, put his revolver at the head of the driver, and bidden him drive on at full speed. The police heard this story with incredulity, and later were unable to find any driver of the line who would almit having been through such an experience.

Greatest literary contribution to the world of juvenile education. Worthy the place of honor in any home. Condensation of life of the whole world.

The Children's Greatest Helper.

THE BOOK OF KNOWLEDGE is today the greatest single force in the life of the child. It is the binding link between the home and the school. and the common ground of the cooperation which is so necessary between parent and teacher. This wonderful work contains everything a child wants to know and ought to know, told in a clear, simple and fascinating language and lays the foundation of a thorough education in the daily reading and occupations of the child.

The CHILD and THE BOOK OF KNOWLEDGE belong together as naturally as the flower belongs to the soil in which it grows. It has a magnetism for childish minds which no other work for the young has ever possessed. Every teacher knows that children coming from homes where THE BOOK OF KNOWLEDGE is read and consulted, make much more rapid progress than those who are without this great helper. It often means that these children are two or three years in advance of their companions of the same age.

ONE OF THE FOREMOST EDUCATORS OF THIS COUNTRY SAYS: "Suppose a boy of ten were to spend fifteen minutes a day in reading these pages . . he would at thirteen know more about the earth and life on it than the wisest men knew a few generations ago.

Pictures, The Universal Language.

THE BOOK OF KNOWLEDGE explains all the important knowledge of the world to the mind of the child by means of ten thousand striking educational pictures. He can grasp at once how a book is made; how the wireless works; how the tea comes to the table; how we obtain salt, sugar, rubber, leather and coal; many important manufacturing processes; the habits of animals, birds, fishes and flowers. He becomes familiar with a hundred different countries, their cities and people, art and architecture. His own bodily life and health and the wonders of the spinning worlds in the sky are brought within his mental grasp by means of original illustrations showing striking comparisons. THE BOOK OF KNOWLEDGE is the finest example of the modern method of teaching by pictures.

When the trial of Mitchell Kennerley the publisher, charged with publishing and mailing an indecent book, was called yesterday Judge Thomas's room in the Federal Court was crowded with publishers, novelists, magazine writers, poets, and critics. Most of them were anxious to testify in behalf of the defendant, but were content to listen attentively to the author's description of Hagar's adventures in "Hagar Revelly." Women suffragists and advocates of open discussion of sex ques-tions formed another interested group. Among those in the room were Mrs. Inez Milholland Boissevain, Edwin Bjorkman, Lawrence Maynard, President of the publishing firm of Small, May nard & Co.; George Cram Cooke, Susan Glaspell, Otto Huebsch, Francis Hackett, and Hutchins Hapgood. None of these was called to the stand, but most of them held in their hands copies of the book, and the pages rustled as they followed the passages read by Attorney John Quinn in his summing up for the defense and extracts later read to the Jersey City in the suit of Manuel M. jury by Assistant United States District final words of philosophy." The assembled literati rustled the pages of their books and smiled with appreciation as Mr. Quinn attacked Anthony Comstock, who caused the indictment of Mr. Kennerley by the Federal Grand Jury. He asserted that the object of the book was to portray the evil influences to which girl workers were subjected, the reward of virtue, and the penalty usually paid by those women who attempt to defy the laws of nature and of society.

"The man who brought the charge," said Mr. Quinn, "possessed a filthy mind." Holding the book aloft, Mr. Quinn dramatically exclaimed: "Honi soit qui mal y pense."

Mr. Quinn then read a letter of appreciation written to Daniel Carson Goodman, author of the book, by Miss Ida Tarbell, in which the writer commended the novel as teaching a moral lesson. He also read the criticism of Mr. Kennerley's reader, Mr. Hooley, on the book prior to its acceptance for publication. The report said that the writer possessed an excellent style, that the plot was a good one, but that there were many grammatical errors.

Mr. Quinn then read the passages in hony Comstock, who caused the indict-

Mr. Quinn then read the passages in the book which were called indecent. In commenting upon that portion of the novel which relates the betrayal of the heroine by her employer, the attorney said to the jury:

"You see, it tells the old, old story. It is a scene which could not be left out; it cannot be said that it was used for the purposes of corruption. It pictures the predicament of this little bird in the talons of this wretch."

Mr. Quinn concluded his long summing up by telling the jury to consider the fact that the offense charged constituted a felony, and was punishable by a long term of imprisonment and a heavy fine.

stituted a felony, and was punishable by a long term of imprisonment and a heavy fine.

In summing up for the prosecution, Assistant District Attorney Boyle caused a distinct flurry in the ranks of the defendant. He explained that he did not ask a conviction solely because of the selected passages from the book which were enumerated in the indictment, but that he regarded the entire story as immoral and selacious and likely to pervert the morals of youthful readers whom the law sought to protect. He sought to indicate the "pernicious philosophy" of the book by reciting an expression used by one of the principal characters: "But why talk about Life; one never gets anywhere. Let us enjoy the pleasures within our grasp." This book," said Mr. Boyle, "was written by an obscure author for the sale of a sensational novel. It teaches no lesson; it is not beautiful; it does not inspire noble thoughts or aspirations. It is sensual, inartistic, and crude. It is in no wise subtle. By the widest stretch of the imagination it could never be considered to be real literature. Read it from cover to cover and you will be bored to death. In the parlance of the street, it is 'simply rotten."

parlance, or the street, it is simply rotten."

The most amusing by-play between the District Attorney and Mr. Quinn occurred when the latter took exception to a statement made by Mr. Boyle as to part of the contents of the novel. The District Attorney was calling attention of the jury to the account of a visit made by the heroine and a male companion to a low, immoral public dance hall."

"There is no such incident in the book," exclaimed Mr. Quinn, jumping to his feet. 'No mention is made of any dance hall."

"Have you read this book carefully dance hall."

"There is no such incident in the book," exclaimed Mr. Oulnn. Jumping to his feet. 'No mention is made of any dance hall."

"Have you read this book carefully throughout," demanded Mr. Boyle, "or is the dose which you prescribed for the lake it vourself?" that you refuse, to lake it vourself?"

was the hot retort.

"Then here are a few pages that you must have skipped," returned the Federal District Attorney, reading from the novel to sustain his orevious contention. Even the supporters of Mr. Kenneriely joined in the laugh which was occasioned by his discomforture.

"The publishing of this book whether you would care to have it fall into the hands of your huncers day the hands of your huncers day that a prison sentence will be imposed by the court in the event that the offered it freely for sale, regardless of the consequences which might ensue to the readers into whose hands it fell, stamps him as either unmoral or unconsclously immoral. The account of the first and only successful climb to the summit of our greatest mountain.

This is the story of the climbing of the highest mountain on the North American continent, Mt. McKinley, by the leader of the little expedition that achieved it. The attempt had been made by many of the leading sportsmen and mountain-climbers of this and other countries, but no attempt was ever successful until this made by Archdeacon Stuck of the Yukon. The ascent took him and his three companions more than two months, and during that time their dangers and adventures were continuous, as this fascinating narrative shows.

SENATOR O'GORMAN'S POSITION.

It is to be regretted that Senator O'GORMAN has taken a position upon the tolls exemption question that is misrepresentative of public opinion in the State which sends him to the Senate. Nor is it easy to understand by what arguments Mr. O'GORMAN can in his own mind justify an attitude so directly contrary not only to the views and wishes of the people view and wish of the people of the country.

The decision of the Appellate Division of the First Department yesterday affirmed the judgment against the thirteen members of the Poultry Trust, sentenced to spend three months in the State Penitentiary and to pay a fine of $500 each. This achievement is to the credit of District Attorney WHITMAN. Ex-Attorney General WICKERSHAM, in a letter to THE TIMES appearing Nov. 14 last called the attention of Congress to the fact that juries are beginning to convict the heads of monopolistic trusts on criminal charges. In two cases during President TAFT's Administration the defendants pleaded guilty: in six cases of his own State, but to the prevailing the jury convicted individual defendants who were sentenced to pay fines, and, in two more instances, imprisonment as well as fines was delisten with patience to the argument creed. NO WHITEWASHING.

Chairman Barnes Says Republicans Won't Have It. To the Editor of The New York Times

The inference in the editorial article In THE TIMES this morning that the Republican organization of this State will attempt to whitewash any of the men who have been guilty of corruption in the State contracting work, or any of the officials who have been guilty of maladministration, is false. MORE HIGHWAY GRAFT?

Elmira Road Built of Shale Dug from Hillside.

To the Editor of The New York Times:
In the light of disclosures in the recent investigations of road building a discovery that I made last Summer as to how certain state roads are constructed and the excuse offered by an official of the Department of Highways are rather interesting.

There is a road out of Elmira built of shale dug from the hillside along which the road runs. The shale was dug out by laborers with picks and shoveled upon the roadway with more or less earth mixed with it, then rolled by a steam roller.

While no expert in road building, I know work of Erritam Resmusseen a voung wor roadway with more or less earth mixed with it, then rolled by a steam roller.

While no expert in road building, I know that shale is about as poor road material as can be found; it can almost be crumbled in the fingers, and a road made of it will not last as long as one properly constructed of clay or gravel. Being curious to know the opinion of the department on this point, I sent a letter to that office, calling attention to the matter and asking if it was the custom of the department to build roads of this variety. A reply was received promising an investigation, and later I was informed that the shale was used because it was "the best material available." Isn't it rather a lame excuse? At other points where proper material is not at hand contractors have it sent to them by the carload.

Possibly an investigation might develop the fact that while the contract called for trap rock or some similar material the contractor was using the shale. I cannot believe that the department would approve a contract for constructing a road where material of the nature used in this case was specified in the contract.

Buffalo, N. Y., Feb. 4, 1914.

At the Arlington Art Galleries is the work of Bertram Rasmussen, a young in the deduction in 1911 in Paris under Jean Paul Laurens, and at the Julian Academy. Later he came under the influence of the progressive group in Paris and left the Academy to follow their programme. A couple of heads, one of a very blonde woman, the other "A Paris Painter," are remarkable, the first for its vitality of color, the second for its intensity of claracter; but these shows them. There is, however, stuff for time and experience to work upon. The "Hommage" to Van Gogh and Cezanne, and the other, or as Mr. Rasmussen puts it, the "Hymn to the Prophets of Modern Art," is refreshing in its young spirit of hero worship. That is the sort of thing that, together with work, makes artists. Only there is so much that ought not to flaunt its immantant upon to the first for its vitality outside the studio. H

Whenever a vacancy has occurred. I have been surprised and pained to see the number of "veterans" making application, without success; and if one occasionally received a trial, because of a boastful statement that he or she could fill the position satisfactorily, he or she would be discharged within a week's time for utter incompetency. To me there is something very pathetic in this; and it leads me to inquire whether it might not be well to establish a "Home for Aged and Decrept Stenographers" along lines similar to the Actors Home on Staten Island. New York, Feb. 5, 1914.

At the Galleries of Kennedy & Co. is an exhibition of engraved portraits of elicary and legal celebrities, ranging over several centuries and many lands. There are the line engravings by R. Morghen of Dante Alligheiri, Petrarch, and Boccaccio, and there is Pickerill's portrait of Hannah More, engraved by Worthington. Emerson hobnobs with David Gerrick. Shakespeare is from the Chandos portrait by Samuel Cousins, there is Lawrence Sterne by E. Fisher after Reynolds, and there is John Milton by S. Simon after R. White. In the legal portraits the contrasts seem less extreme, probably because we know less of the temperaments and characters interpreted. At the Galleries of Kennedy & Co. is

The Federal League made known today that its officers are planning a legal fight for the services of three St. Louis American League players, who, they said, signed with the Federals last Fall, but went back to the Americans when they were granted an increased salary. The three are Outfielder Gus Williams, George Baumgardner, a pitcher, and Samuel Agnew, a catcher, harles Weeghman, President of the hicago Federals, said he had made gal arrangements to fight for the services of William Killifer, and that simir action would be taken to regain the Louis men.

Wheatley and Goodwin outclassed the other contestants in the second heat. The latter led for the first 100 yards, and then Wheatley closed up, and the pair swam on even terms for the next fifty yards. Goodwin made no effort to catch Wheatley on the last lap.

REDS' CATCHERS HOLD OUT.

Clarke and Hartley Want More Salary Than Herrmann Offers.

Grover Cleveland Hartley, the former New York catcher, who was traded to Cincinnati with Charley Herzog two months ago for Bob Bescher, is evidently not satisfied with the terms of the 1014 contract offered to him by Garry Herrmann. Hartley has refused to attach his signature to the document, and he asserts that Herrmann will have to show him more money before he signs. Tom Clarke, the mainstay of the Reds behind the bat, has also refused to sign, behind the bat, has also refused to sign. but Herrmann is confident that Clarke will fall into line next week. Garry has next Monday when the magnates arrive for the schedule meeting here, and terms will be discussed then. The only other holdout in the Red camp is Leon Ames, another former Giant.

.When the American League convenes here next Wednesday at the Biltmore the schedule for the coming season will be announced. President Johnson original properties of Montreal and Control of Montreal inally announced that the Spring meeting of the league would be held on March 10, after the world's tourists return, so that President Charles W. Comiskey of the White Sox might attend. The Federal League activity and the opportunity to confer jointly with the National League club owners here next week has caused the change in plans. As all the members of the National League club owners here next week has caused the change in plans. me National League club owners here next week has caused the change in plans. As all the members of the National Commission will be in this city Monday and Tuesday, it is probable that a special meeting of that body will be held.

Impire Bill Brennan has officially notified the National League that he has one over to the camp of the Federals. he contract which was sent to him for its season of 1914 has been returned to he National League office here, with a atter announcing his decision to join the Federal League staff. Close friends to Brennan say that the action taken to the National League in reversing his celsion at Philadelphia last Fall when the forfeited a game to the Giants is the hal cause of Brennan quitting the National League. He insists that he took he proper action under the conditions, and feels that he should have been acked up by the league.

Tesreau, Fromme, Wilson, and Beschrare the only Giants who are not unfor contract for the coming season.
Tresident Harry Hempstead says that he has received word from all four, and here is no doubt about them getting ato line. The Federal League has not line. The Federal League has not line able to make any of the quartet gard an offer seriously.

continued to reflect the cagerness with which high grade investments have been sought since the beginning of the year. State and municipal issues which lately came into prominence, held their own well, and in some cases made further gains. The conspicuous sucess of the $10,000,000 Republic of Cuba ssue, which was largely oversubscribed, and which was quickly quoted at a premium indicated that demand was still runing ahead of supply. Much interest was evinced during the day in the plans which are under way for financing by the Southern Pacific Com-pany, which is expected shortly to make formal announcement of a new issue of considerable size. A decline in the outstanding convertible bonds of the Southern Pacific was prompted by the reports which were current concerning the terms upon which the new financing, which is expected to take the form of another convertible issue, will be

A Needed Lesson for Brokers. The Pujo Committee's inquiry and the Owen measure, which followed it, for the regulation of Stock Exchanges, meaning the New York Stock Exchange, have done something for the brokers in educating them to the need of combating a general misunderstanding as to the purposes and methods of the Exchange. When Mr. Untermyer was questioning officials of the Exchange it was shown that they had never formulated in their own minds the economic reasons for their organization. They knew that there had to be a place for the purchase and sale of securities, but they were at a loss to explain the reasons for practices to which they had long subscribed. The leading members began to discuss the situation among themselves, with the result that when the poration of the Exchange came up the brokers made a much better showing. They have still further strengthened their position by the recent hearing at Washington, in the opinion of the financial district. Where the Stock Exchange has been unable to make a good defense of a practice it has come to realize that

Heavy Break in a Number of the Oil Stocks the Market Feature.

Less business was done in stocks on the Stock Exchange yesterday than on any day since Jan. 13, and it was principally during the final hour that the market moved in volume. During that period prices declined quite generally, although on the average the loss was not large. The securities most conspicuous in this decline were the Rock Island stocks and collateral bonds and New York Central. It was the third day of reaction in stocks, during which the general level of quotations has shown a net recession of about one point. Brokers refused to try to figure an aproximate amount of the paper that had passed through their hands to find lodgment with local banks, but an estimate of aggregate discounts as presented by one of the largest houses indicated that New York banks had not, for themselves, taken more than half the total paper negotiated. A member of this firm thought that bills worth more than $125,000,000, and possibly more than $125,000,000, had been sold by brokers in this city in January. His own house, said he, had not done quite as much business as in January of last

A potent feature in filling the market with commercial paper was the opportunity merchants saw of getting loans on a chap discount basis owing to easy money. They borrowed through the medium of commercial bills in order to use the proceeds to pay off bank loans, high, and took steps when they found that they could borrow at cheap rates in the bill market to sell their paper and liquidate obligations with the banks.

portant manufacturers who make a point of never issuing notes unless they can be discounted at a low figure. Rather than have their names on paper that has to be sold on a stiff basis, they curb their needs and wait for a more propitious time.

Numerous borrowers of this class refuse to have their paper discounted at a higher rate than 4 per cent. In January they were able to get the money they wanted at favorable figures, for the discount fell from 5½ per cent. to 4 per cent. for six month bills. The market at the present time is quoted on a 3½ to 4 per cent. basis, and brokers say that the available supply of desirable bills has become largely reduced by the hunger of banks for "good" paper.

as much business as in January of last commercial paper dealers generally had surpassed every other month in their history.

Several reasons were advanced in financial circles for this extensive borrowing by merchants and manufactures. Observers of the bill market said that the call for credit represented in part an increase of business throughout the country. The warning was given, however, not to make too much account of this manifestation. More important elements were present in the loan market to cause a demand for funds. The betterment of industry and trade was said to be still chiefly a matter of sentiment and borrowing for application to expanding demands of business was being done more for the future than for present needs.

SO. PACIFIC PLANS $50,000,000 ISSUE

Convertible Bonds Will Be Put Out to Provide for $30,000,000 in Notes Maturing in June.

KUHN, LOEB & CO. IN CHARGE

Bankers Who Handled Company's $20,000,000 Note Issue Will Form a Syndicate to Underwrite Bonds.

Plans were under discussion yesterday for an issue of about $50,000,000 Southern Pacific convertible bonds to provide for the notes, amountling to about $30,-000,000, which mature next June and for other requirements of the company. A definite decision regarding the company's financing, it was said, had not been attained, and would not be probably until some day next week.

Meanwhile the proposal under discussion is an issue of bonds convertible into Southern Pacific stock at par to be offered to the stockholders of the company at par. There is $272,072,400 of Southern Pacific stock outstanding, and an offer of bonds to the amount of 20 per cent. of the stockholdings would call for an issue of $54,534,480. No information was available, though, regarding the exact proportion in which the shortester will have the result. into Southern Pacific stock at par to be offered to the stockholders of the garding the exact proportion in which the shareholders will have the privi-carried out it was expected in the bond market yesterday that a syndicate to underwrite the issue would be formed by Kuhn, Loeb & Co., who placed the $20,000,000 of notes which were sold by the company last June. That was part of an authorized issue of $30,000,000, of which most of the balance has been put out since. It was recalled in this connection that the agreement with the note syndicate provided that in the event nection that the agreement with the note syndicate provided that in the event of convertible bonds or other securities being offered to the road's stockholders in the life of the notes the members of that syndicate would be allowed to participate in the underwriting of the new issue at an underwriting commission of 2 per cent. On this ground it was thought likely that underwriting for the proposed convertible bonds would be arranged on these terms.

Apart from last year's issue of notes this is the first important financing other than an equipment issue which has been done by the Southern Pacific Islace its separation from the Union Pacific. The Southern Pacific has one issue of convertible bonds outstanding. These carry 4 per cent. Interest and are convertible into stock at 130.

In the bond market it was pointed out in respect to the proposed terms of this issue that any comparison with the basis on which other bond issues have been bought lately must take into account the fact that the most active demand since the first of the year had been for high-grade mortgage bonds. It was natural, it was added, that on a debenture issue such as the Southern Pacific was considering a higher rate of interest should be offered. It was also desired, it was said, to fix such terms for the new Southern Pacific issue as would give value to the right to subscribe which is to be offered to the company's stocknolders.

known in the financial district. The bonds were offered by J. P. Morgan & Co., Kuhn Loch & Co., the First Na-Bank at 981/2 less the usual commission Bank at 98½ less the usual commission of one-quarter of 1 per cent. Before the day was over they were quoted at a premium of a full point.

The bankers' circulars were distributed yesterday afternoon. In them it was announced that the subscription lists would be closed at 3 P. M. on Feb. 10 or earlier. The fact that the bonds were heavily oversubscribed yesterday was cited as another striking illustration of the great demand which has existed of late for investment issues.

The Republic of Cuba, the creular points out, pledges as special security for the bonds its customs receipts, subject to prior pledges. These amount to only $4,010,000 a year, while the customs receipts of the republic have averaged more than $25,000,000 a year for the last five years. Under the Platt amendment the Government of this country has acquiesced in the creation by Cuba of the public debt represented by these bonds.

The interest on the bonds is payable semi-annually on Feb. 1 and Aug. 1, and the bonds mature on Feb. 1, 1949. 1 Principal and interest on the registered bonds are payable in New York in United 1 State gold coin. Readjustment Proposed by Bondholders is Illegal, Lovett Says.

Robert S. Lovett, Chairman of the Evanue knewn also that, in addition to the proposal that the bonds be made by esterday that it would be illegal to make any readjustment of the convertible at a price of 180 fer the slock in order to offset the proposal that convertible bonds as had been suggested that securities be set aside to make up the difference to the convertible bonds, as had been suggested that they might see fit to take advantage of the because of the convertible bondholders at any time that they might see fit to take advantage of the discussion of the matter it was learned that, in addition to the bondholders in this city who had written to Judge Lovett, a protest had been made by the Dutch bondholders of the right to convert their bonds into stock at 175 had been reduced by about 35 points the convertible bonds at a certain rate during a certain period at the option of the holder; and that was absolutely all it promised.

"The suggestions that have been made to five proposal that the bonds be made to five proposal that the bonds in the assets and the cut in the dividend from 10 to 8 per cent., it had been suggested that securities be set aside to make up the difference to the convertible bondholders at any time that they might see fit to take advantage of the convertible bondholders. Convertible bonds and the say in the dividends only on common stock, and is chargeable to surplus and not capital. There is nothing for all of whom we have feit we were plus and not capital. There is nothing the convertible bonds of the convertible bonds of the convertible bonds of the convertible bonds of the convertible bonds. The butch bondholders of the convertible bonds of the convertible bonds of the convertible bonds of the convertible bonds of the proposal that the bonds of the convertible bonds. $10,000,000

REPUBLIC OF CUBA

EXTERNAL DEBT FIVE PER CENT. GOLD BONDS OF 1914

Authorized by the Cuban Congress

Ratified by the President of the Republic of Cuba

Due February 1, 1949

Dated February 2, 1914 Interest payable February 1st and August 1st.

Principal and Interest of coupon bonds payable, at the holder's option: In New York, in United States Gold Coin; or

Principal and Interest of Registered Bonds payable in New York in United States Gold Coin-

In London, at the rate of $4.86 per Pound Sterling; or In Germany, at the rate of M. 4.20 per Dollar; or In Paris, at the rate of Fcs. 5.18 per Dollar.

The Republic of Cuba pledges its good faith and its credit for the due and punctual payment of the Principal and Interest and of the Sinking Fund Installments. As a special guaranty and security for such payments, the Republic of Cuba pledges so much of the Customs Receipts and other revenues of the Island of Cuba as may be required to make the said payments. such pledge being subject to existing pledges mentioned on page 3 of our circular. copies of which will be furnished on application.

THIS PLEDGE IS GIVEN PRIORITY OVER ALL AND EVERY CHARGE OR LIEN WHICH MAY HEREAFTER BE CREATED.

Principal and interest are free from Cuban Government Taxes and Imposts. FISCAL AGENTS AND REGISTRARS OF THE BONDS: J. P. MORGAN & CO.

Coupon Bonds in denominations of $100, $500, and $1,000. Registered Bonds in denominations of $1,000, $5,000, and $10,000. Coupon Bonds of $500 and $1,000 may be registered as to principal. Coupon and registered bonds interchangeable. Application will be made to list these bonds on the New York Stock Exchange.

From the Agreement with the Republic of Cuba governing the issue, and from other writings furnished by the Government, we summarize as follows:

tinue uninterruptedly until such payments shall have been sufficient to pay or to redeem all the bonds; and the Sinking Fund is to be applied from time to time to the purchase of bonds in the market at a price less than 102½ per centum, if reasonably practicable; otherwise to the redemption at 102½ and accrued interest, of bonds drawn annually by lot, for the purposes of the Sinking Fund.

On any interest date after February 1, 1921, on not less than thirty days previous notice, additional bonds beyond those required for the Sinking Fund may, at the option of the Republic of Cuba, be drawn for redemption at 105 and accrued interest.

The Customs Receipts of the Republic for the last five fiscal years ended June 30 have averaged $25,444,964 per annum and have increased from $22,143,055 for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1909, to $28,173,823 for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1913. These Customs Receipts are exclusive of Special Taxes and Other Revenues of the Republic. The total amount annually payable by the Government to discharge its obligations in respect of loans heretofore contracted does not and will not exceed $4,010,000.

PURSUANT TO THE SO-CALLED "PLATT AMENDMENT" OF 1901, THE GOVERNMENT OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA HAS FORMALLY ACQUIESCED IN THE CREATION BY THE REPUB-LIC OF CUBA OF THE PUBLIC DEBT REPRESENTED BY THESE BONDS.

THE UNDERSIGNED WILL RECEIVE SUBSCRIPTIONS FOR THE ABOVE BONDS AT 981/2 AND ACCRUED INTEREST. SUBSCRIPTIONS WILL BE CLOSED AT 3:00 P. M., FEBRUARY 10, 1914, OR EARLIER AT THE OPTION OF THE UNDERSIGNED. WHO ALSO RE-SERVE THE RIGHT TO REJECT ANY OR ALL AP-PLICATIONS AND IN ANY CASE TO AWARD

Dodge & Co. that the company was not portation unless the papers actually beinterested in renovating the Rock Island fore a Collector of Customs disclose in manifest clerical error," was the gis Company and did not own Rock Island of a decision made yesterday by the Board of United States General Appraisers.

It appears that E. L. Garvin & Co., Custom House brokers of this city, representing a client, received two proforms invoices for the same merchandise. Entry was made on both of them with the result that duty was required by the Collector and paid on the same merchandise twice. In their appeal to the board it was claimed that the executing of the second invoice was a manifest clerical error, as that term is used in the customs administrative act, and in fact constituted a non-importation. Judge Hay, in his decision for the tribunal upholding the imposition of the double duty, says in part:

"This is not a non-importation within the meaning of that term as used in customs law. Prior to the decision of the Court of Customs Appeals in United States vs. the Swedish Produce Company, it was treated as a clerical error and relief afforded if a proper claim had been made, but the error complained of here is apparently no relief for the importer. The protest is therefore overshares, the Directors of Phelps, Dodge & Co. issued this statement yesterday: As numerous articles have recently ap-As numerous articles have recently appeared in the daily papers connecting Phelps, Dodge & Co. with the Rock Island Railroad Company, and intimating that Phelps, Dodge & Co. had not only been large buyers of Rock Island stocks, but had obtained the control of the property, we therefore consider it only right and proper to advise our stockholders officially that Phelps, Dodge & Co. has never had a single share of Rock Island stock of invested one dollar of money in any of these securities.

Commenting on general business conditions, Dun's Review says:

There are further evidences of reviving business activity, with the expansion in industrial operations constituting one of the best features of the situation. Somewhat less complaint is now heard regarding labor conditions, as the number of unemployed, while apparently still large, has been considerably reduced of late. This obviously enhances the purchasing power of the people, and confidence in the future is gradually strengthening. Developments in iron and steel last month were of such an encouraging nature that prices in certain finished lines have been advanced $1 at on—a significant fact in view of the freedom with which concessions were formerly offered. The output of pig iron in January showed a continued contraction, but the leading interest has recently blown in several blast furnaces, and an increase in production is expected during February. In the copper trade fair bookings are noted, both for domestic and foreign account, and quotations are firmer. Reports from the principal woolen centres are quite favorable, as it is stated that not in months have the mills been so busily ergaged as at present. Buyers, however, still show a strong disposition to confine purchases to near-by requirements, and prices for Fall are the lowest named for several years. litions. In most cases the bonds were in small denominations and were sold to poor persons. The paper received by the purchaser, he said, was nothing more than a receipt, and the inability of the purchaser to keep up his installment payments permitted the company to resell the property. As an instance of this sort of company he mentioned the Fidelity Development Company, one of Joseph G. Robin's enterprises. He advocated that all sellers of real property under contract be required to file with the proper public official the contract of sale, which would give the purchaser a vendee's lien on the property. An Agent's Liability.

When a man engages janitors, pays for repairs and receives and receipts for the rent of a building in his own name, he is responsible as its owners for any damages resulting from violations of law followed by injuries to tenants and others lawfully on the property.

This was the ruling of the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court yesterday in reversing the action of the court below, which dismissed the complaint in Thomas McGowan's suit against Leonard Morgan.

Morgan was the apparent owner of a tenement house in which McGowan was sinjured in a hall where the lights required by law were not kept burning. He had the complaint dismissed on the ground that his ownership had not been proved.

The evidence showed that he was Brona.

He had the complaint dismissed on the ground that his ownership had not been proved.

The evidence showed that he was recognized as the landlord by all tenants and employes and had never represented himself as an agent of anyone. The Appellate Division ordered a new trial.

Real Estate Board Dinner To-night.

Taxation, with special reference to the prevailing agitation for the halving of the tax on buildings, will be the topic of a talk by Prof. E. R. A. Seligman, who holds the chair of political economy at Columbia University, at the eighteenth annual dinner of the Real Estate Board of New York in the Waldorf-Astoria.

Cornelius S. Morrell is the buyer of the five-story loft 177 Pearl Street, sold recently by Lillian C. Caspar.

Lively Bronx Market.

The Bronx market was unusually active yesterday. Several big deals were reported in the eastern section.

The New York Times:-

On December 21st, 1913, we advertised a moving picture theatre for sale in the Business Opportunity column of The New York Times.

The following day we received a call from an interested gentleman, but as this particular place did not interest him we sold him another valued at $20,000.

This is solely the result of one advertisement, which I consider a remarkably good investment.

THIN OYSTERS THE SAFEST.

Board of Health Goes Into the The ory That They Carry Typhold. The Health Department has made oysters sold in the New York market shall be free from contamination and fit for food. The officials say that the reason for reviewing the subject is what has been written and said of oysters as disseminators of typhoid fever. The conditions which are favorable to the ab sorption of pollution are shown. The oyster, so far as is known, feeds upon microscopic animal and vegetable life, which it gathers by allowing the water to filter through its gills. The oyster is discriminating, and rejects certain micro-organisms, but unfortunately those which enter the water with sewage are not among those organisms which the oyster refuses. The oyster must filter many gallons of water daily in order to The Council of Jewish Women has obtain its food, and any bacteria which
